NEW!
Islamic Studies Minor

FALL 2019 COURSES

You can now minor in Islamic Studies at UNCG! Expand your knowledge of the principles and practices of one of the world’s most rapidly growing religions and explore how Islam has shaped history, language, and politics on a global scale.

Requirements: Six courses, including one year of beginning Arabic and either HIS 207 OR REL 225. At least two classes must be at the 300 level or above.

The following classes in the minor will be offered in Fall 2019:

- ARB 101, Beginning Arabic I (MWF noon-12:50) (Prof. Malika Akarramou)*
- HIS 207-01, Islamic Civilization: From Mecca to the Crusades (TR 9:30-10:45) (Prof. Asa Eger)*
- HIS 207-02, Islamic Civilization: From Mecca to the Crusades (TR 3:30-4:45) (Prof. Asa Eger)*
- REL 225-01, Introduction to Islam (MWF 11-11:50) (Prof. Alyssa Gabbay)*
- HSS 217-02H, African Islam in the Diaspora, (TR 3:30-4:45)(Prof. Ayla Amon)(Honors students only, or with permission of the Honors dean)
- HIS 380-01, Unearthing Islam’s Past: Art, Archaeology, and History (TR 12:30-1:45) (Prof. Asa Eger)
- HIS 424, United States-Middle East Relations (TR 3:30-4:45) (Prof. David Wight)

*These classes are required for the minor. You may take either HIS 207 OR REL 225.

Questions? E-mail Prof. Alyssa Gabbay abgabbay@uncg.edu or Prof. Asa Eger aaeger@uncg.edu.