REL 201-01, 02: The Bible of Western Culture
[MAC Global and Intercultural]
ONLINE - ASYN
Professor TBA

This course considers the afterlives of key texts from the Hebrew Bible and the New Testament in Jewish, Christian, and Islamic cultures in antiquity, the middle ages, and in the modern United States. This year we will focus on the story of Adam and Eve; and the biblical wisdom literature of Lamentations, Job, and Ecclesiastes. We trace how religious thinkers and communities have used these texts to grapple with “Big Religious Questions” about life, diversity, gender, sexuality, suffering, misfortune, ethical demands, human responsibility, forgiveness, and the place of humans in the universe.

REL 202-01: Hebrew Bible
[MAC Global and Intercultural]
Ellen Haskell

This course offers an introduction to the Hebrew Bible and the religion of ancient Israel. Over the course of the semester, we will come to understand this complex text not only as a work of literature but also as the product of distinct cultural and historical environments. We will not read the entire Bible! Rather, we will explore a selection of readings that represent the Bible’s main literary genres and themes. Central concerns of the course will be the relationship between history, theology, and ideology in this diverse text, as well as topics in biblical spirituality such as covenant, prayer, prophecy, doubt, and love.
